THE CATHEDRAL OF THE SEA

Portsmouth Cathedral is the only English Cathedral built within sight of the sea. Since the 12th Century it has offered a place of spiritual renewal for seafarers whilst its close proximity to the entrance of Portsmouth Harbour has provided a navigational beacon for those seeking haven from the perils of the sea. The Naval Dockyard, a World Heritage Site, lies within the parish and the Cathedral's long and close association with the Royal Navy and the wider maritime community is as important today as it has been over the centuries.
